SIX PERSONS KILLED IN 2 TRAFFIC CRASHES

Truman Asks Congress To Let Draft Act Expire March 31

DRAFT, LABOR ISSUES FACE CONGRESSMEN

Capitol Hill Has Little To Show For Past Two Months Work

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 3 — The 80th congress swings into its third month of business today with little to show for its efforts so far and with two deadlines looming ahead.

This is the month lawmakers must decide what to do about the draft law which expires March 31, and in which their leaders had hoped to finish work on a general labor law ahead of a possible new coal strike April 1.

A presidential message on the draft law may go to congress early this week—possibly today.

While there has been no official announcement, army and congressional officials predict privately the president will ask that the draft act be left to die on schedule. It hasn't been since last October.

Labor Hearing Prolonged
Chances for getting a new labor law on the statute books by the end of the month—when John L. Lewis' current soft coal strike expires—were dealt a blow by the announcement of Chairman Hartley (R-NJ), that the house labor committee may not wind up its hearings before the middle of the month.

The senate labor committee plans to end its public hearings Saturday, but both committees may spend considerable time behind closed doors writing their separate bills.

Even when they reach the respective floors, the measures are expected to provoke long days of debate.

But the month promises to be a busy one for congress.

The house appropriations committee has half a dozen departmental supply bills for 1948. One of them, appropriating 1948 fiscal year funds for the Treasury and Postoffice departments, may be sent to the floor by the end of this week. Another, for the Interior department, will be ready next week.

Along with supply bills for the Army and Navy, they will give congress its first real test of how far the lawmakers want to go toward cutting down expenses so taxes can be reduced and the national debt trimmed. The Interior bill, particularly, is loaded with so-called "pet projects" dear to the political hearts of many congressmen.

Union Church Service Sunday Well Attended

The Sunday evening union service at the Episcopal church, held under auspices of the Salem Ministerial association, was well attended.

Rev. R. J. Hunter, pastor of the First Baptist church, the speaker, used for his theme, "God's Marvelous Grace."

Miss Gloria Gibson sang the solo part in the offertory anthem, "Incline Thine Ear to Me," by the choir. The choir also sang "O Lord, Support Us," a prayer hymn.

The service next Sunday evening will be in the Methodist church with Rev. Harry Barrett, pastor of the Episcopal church, speaker.

NON-VOLUNTEERS TO BE RELEASED SOON BY ARMY

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 3 — President Truman today recommended that congress let the draft law expire March 31 and disclosed that the Army soon expects to release all non-volunteers.

There was no immediate report of the number of drafted men who will be turned loose by the Army but it is expected to amount to several thousand. The War department indicated it would issue a statement on its plans for discharging the men.

Re-enactment Possible
In a message to the legislators, Mr. Truman advised that the War and Navy department still request re-enactment of a Selective Service act later if they are unable to keep the army at a strength of 1,070,000 men and the navy at its authorized strength of 571,000, through voluntary enlistments.

He requested that the services be authorized to hire—from funds already appropriated—the necessary civilian help to offset any shortage of enlisted men if strength falls below the required levels.

The White House dispatched the message to Capitol Hill while the President himself was flying to Mexico City for a three-day goodwill visit.

Last spring, congress extended the draft law until March 31 of this year and raised pay scales of enlisted men. The idea then was to see whether the armed services could get all the men they needed as volunteers.

The White House decision that the law need not be extended is a short term one so far as general future military manpower policy is concerned.

Federal Voluntary Program
President Truman was said to expect that he wants some form of universal training law enacted eventually. He now has a commission of educators and public leaders studying the question of what system would be best for this country.

This group is expected to report in two or three months and Mr. Truman has said he will send congress detailed recommendations then for a training law.

In today's message, Mr. Truman told congress that "the only assured way" of keeping the armed forces at the necessary strength for the fiscal year 1948, which ends June 30, 1948, is through Selective Service. The he added:

"I have decided, however, after Turn to NON-VOLUNTEERS, P. 8

ENTIRE SCHOOL FACULTY RESIGNS

(By Associated Press)
LORAIN, March 3.—The entire faculty of neighboring Clearview schools resigned today in the midst of a dispute with certain members of the student body.

Resignations were submitted by Superintendent T. C. Simpson at an assembly program designed to straighten out complaints by a number of students against what they considered harsh discipline.

Simpson was addressing the pupils amidst loud hooting and boos when suddenly he stopped and walked over to Chandler Thompson, president of Clearview school board. "The teachers can't take any more," said Simpson. "We're resigning in a body."

Washington is full of very youthful looking congressmen these days and they're just daddied tired of being mistaken for page boys, and having page boys mistaken for them. So after April 1, the pages will wear uniforms. Left to right in group above, typifying the possible confusion, are Page William McClarin, 18, of Bethlehem, Pa.; Rep. John Bell Williams, 28, of Mississippi; Rep. W. J. Bryan Dorn, 30, of South Carolina; and Page Joseph L. Bowles, 18, of Mullins, S. C.

Ohio Bell Balks At $12 Week Wage Demands Of Unionists

Walter S. Sparling, vice president and general manager of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., said today that the company is faced with a demand for an "across the board" increase in wages of $12 per week per employee.

Negotiations started Feb. 11 as requested by the Ohio Federation of Telephone Workers, an affiliate of the national federation. The union said the company is faced with a demand for an "across the board" increase in wages of $12 per week per employee.

The increased payroll added to last year's expenses would amount to $107,000,000. That would be more than the $86,000,000 of total revenue that the company took in during 1946.

The $12 per week "across the board" increase alone would increase payrolls and directly related costs by about $10,000,000 per year, he said.

The 1946 payrolls of the company were about 150 per cent higher than they were in 1940 while in the same period revenues have increased only 80 per cent.

"The company has recently and carefully studied how its wages compare with wages paid by others and see no justification at this time for changes in the general level of its wages," Sparling said.

"The company also has the objective to provide to its customers the best possible service at the lowest possible cost consistent with the fair treatment of employees and the financial integrity of the business. The increase in payrolls requested amounts to an average of $3.50 per month per telephone line."

In addition to these basic rates, there are extra payments covering, for example, overtime, evening and night work, Sunday and holiday work, etc., and these add substantially to the take home pay. The company also has made liberal provisions for vacations, holidays, sickness benefits and pensions. The union demands include broadening of many of these provisions.

YOUNGSTOWN POLICEMAN KILLS GUNMAN

Officer, Who Thwarts Holdup, Also Wounds Second Bandit

(By Associated Press)
YOUNGSTOWN, March 3.—Thief of cash estimated at between $10,000 and $15,000 was thwarted last night by Patrolman Edward Przelomski, 29, who engaged in a gun battle with two Cleveland holdup men in the lobby of the Mahoning National bank building, and killed one gunman and wounded another.

The slain man was identified as Earl Johnson, 24, of Cleveland.

Robert Brown, 24, also of Cleveland, was wounded in the right arm. A third member of the gang, believed to have been waiting in a car, escaped.

Wounded In Arm
Hugh Wilson, 44, a Youngstown municipal railway employee, was wounded in the left arm during the interchange of shots.

Przelomski and Wilson were taking the railway company's receipts from the ticket office to the bank. As they stepped into the lobby to drop the cash in the night depository, Brown, Przelomski reported, ordered him to "stick 'em up."

The patrolman shot Brown in the right arm and Brown's cocked revolver dropped from his hand. Johnson, meanwhile, fired two shots, one of which struck Wilson in the arm.

Przelomski then fired at Johnson and a bullet struck the robber between the eyes.

A technical charge of suspicion was lodged against Brown.

Witnesses Shooting
Witnesses to the shooting affray, 13-year-old Freddie Pfau, was in the bank lobby when the guns began to bark. He fled, but kept his head and reported direct to police headquarters where he gave police valuable assistance in describing the scene of the shooting. He left a suitcase in the lobby, where he had been waiting for a Boardman bus after returning from a visit in Cleveland. Police recovered the bag for him.

Route 14 Collision
Martin Orville Homme, 20, of Cleveland and Louis A. Stouffer, 35, of Washingtonville, were the drivers of cars which collided at 3:30 p. m. Saturday on Route 14, west of Columbiana.

John Genetta, Jr., 20, of North Jackson, and Raymond F. Reed, 36, of Youngstown, were operators of cars which collided at 4:15 p. m. Saturday at the intersection of Route 45 and 224. No one was injured.

Leroy Gibson, 40, of R. D. 1, Leetown, lost control of his car on icy Route 14, near the intersection of Route 7, and collided with a telephone pole, damaging his car at 4:20 p. m. Saturday.

No one was injured when icy pavement on the Y. & O. road near East Liverpool caused three cars to collide at 10:30 p. m. Saturday.

Drivers of the cars were: Dr. William J. Hopper, 37, of East Liverpool; Carl Smith, Jr., 21, of East Liverpool; and Robert V. Hurd, 16, of Lisbon.

Five In Family Perish At Deerfield; Trucker Burned

Five members of a New Castle, Pa., family met instant death near Deerfield early today when their car was smashed by a loaded truck and semi-trailer, and a truck driver from Canton was burned to death at 10:40 a. m. Sunday on Route 14, near Beaver lake when his truck skidded off the highway into an embankment.

One two-year old child, a member of the New Castle family, was the lone survivor in the tragedy near Deerfield, state highway patrolmen reported. The child, Judith Seaman, suffered a broken left leg.

The dead: Matthew Aber, 25; John Seaman, 36; Mrs. John Seaman, 38, his wife; Susan Joan Seaman, 5, their daughter and Mrs. Marie Aber, 65, mother of Aber and Mrs. Seaman.

Car Jammed Into Abutment
Patrolmen said the Seaman car sidwiped a truck driven by Henry Iglehart, 30, of Akron, and was catapulted broadside into the path of a second truck operated by William Worlica, 31, also of Akron.

The impact of the second truck smashed the car against a small cement abutment nearby, killing all five instantly and throwing the child to the side of the road.

The accident occurred at 12:15 a. m. today on Route 224, a mile and a half west of Deerfield. The five dead were pinned in the car when the patrol car from Kent arrived.

The injured child is in Robinson Memorial hospital, Ravenna, suffering from a leg fracture and severe shock. Patrolmen had difficulty identifying the victims until later today.

They said investigations showed Seaman died of a fractured skull. Aber of a broken neck, the five-year old child of a fractured skull and the two women of severe abdominal injuries.

Patrolmen said the women's bodies were nearly severed in two.

Burned To Death
Hurley Allen, 47, of 2236 Washington st., Canton, was burned to death when his truck plunged over an embankment on Route 14, east of Columbiana, Sunday morning.

Patrolmen said the truck apparently swerved off the road and caught fire as it went over the grade. The driver was pinned in the cab and efforts of a farmer who saw the m/ship were unsuccessful in saving the man.

The farmer, whose name was not secured, told patrolmen he couldn't get into the cab because of the terrific heat.

The truck and all its contents of automobile tires, air compressors and other accessories were destroyed. Loss was estimated at $15,000. His body was returned to Canton pending funeral arrangements.

FIND THIRD BODY IN CHICAGO BLAST

CHICAGO, March 3 — A third body was recovered today from the debris of an explosion that leveled a three-story brick building in the Loop yesterday and would have taken a huge toll had it occurred on a business day. More than 30 persons were injured.

The body, that of a man, was taken to the morgue where efforts to identify it were to be made. One person had been missing and firemen believed the body might be his.

He was Louis Pappas, who operated a restaurant on the ground floor of the building at Wells and Van Buren streets.

The other dead are Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Koons, Port Wayne, Ind., who were blown from the street to the elevated structure of the Chicago Rapid Transit tracks. Koons, a taxidermist, and his wife had arrived in Chicago only about an hour before the blast.

Three of the injured are in critical condition.

State's Attorney William J. Tuohy said he would begin an investigation into the cause of the blast today.

Ray Crane, chief of uniformed police, said "potential loss" of property, including exposed merchandise in nearby buildings, might total $10,000,000 to $15,000,000. Window damage alone was estimated as high as $250,000.

Dericks would advance no theory as to how the girl died and said the Fryman brothers "wouldn't talk much" when questioned yesterday.

SOMERSET, Pa., March 3.—Battered by a howling snowstorm, this southwestern Pennsylvania mountain community of 7,000 persons was marooned today by snowdrifts up to 10 feet deep.

The Somerset-Rockwood road—the last route of traffic out of the borough—closed this morning.

Highway department workers trying to open up roads were fighting a losing job, as gale-like winds piled snow right back on after it was dug off.

You Can't Win

Herbert Hoover has told the United States it accomplished exactly what it wanted to accomplish during World War II.

Germany was crushed. Almost 6,000,000 Germans were killed or maimed, among them the finest specimens of German manhood.

Half again as many Germans are held by the Soviet Union as "prisoners of war," which is euphemism for slave labor. A million more are still held prisoner in France, Britain and Belgium, to make sure they remember who won the war.

A fourth of all German housing is destroyed, and much of the rest is scarred by bombs and guns. Industrial production is paralyzed. Transportation is hopeless. The morale of the people is at zero, and Mr. Hoover suggests their morals aren't much better.

Germany's monetary wealth is gone. The country has been looted ruthlessly. Families are separated, populations relocated. For millions of Germans there is nothing to live for; they have lost all hope and all purpose. They are fumbling in the rubble of their ruined country for scraps of food and fuel. The Germans are cold, hungry and desperate. The young are marked by malnutrition. The old are dying before their time.

The Allies licked Germany within a quarter of an inch of her life.

Mr. Hoover suggests by implication that the decision to be made now is whether or not to finish the job. It wouldn't be hard, merely tighten the screws of military occupation, turn loose troops with orders to loot and terrorize, withhold food and medicine.

The Allies could take a leaf from the Germans' technique of military occupation; they could start a program of mass slaughter on the pretext of security. They could help disease and starvation devour the substance of the reich. They could speed the grim horsemen of the apocalypse on their way with firing squads and gas chambers.

The threat of German resurgence and the threat of a third world war begun by German imperialists could be removed forever. It wouldn't be difficult at this juncture to dispose permanently of the only habitual war criminal in the family of nations.

World War II was fought to accomplish this. It almost succeeded. It wouldn't take much more, in the opinion of Mr. Hoover.

If Germany had won the war and a Hitler government were making this decision, instead of the Allies, there couldn't be much doubt about what it would do. It would do what it did while the war was in progress; it would try to establish its supremacy once and for all by systematic starvation and terror.

But the United States cannot do this. Great Britain cannot do it. No one can be sure about Russia, because Russia does not reflect the will of its people, only the will of its masters. Americans cannot behave en masse like Adolf Hitler.

"Our flag flies over these people," muses Herbert Hoover in his official report to the White House on Germany. "That flag means something besides military power."

It means mercy and refuge from oppression, forgiveness and Christian charity. It means generosity, sharing and sacrifice. It means brotherly love, hard to believe in when despots are slashing one another's throats for the privilege of enslaving human beings.

But Americans take brotherly love seriously. They believe in forgiveness and charity, virtues which have marked them as weak and decadent, in the opinion of "strong" nations like Germany. Americans have been held up to ridicule for practicing Christianity, and sometimes they have been played for suckers.

Mr. Hoover estimates that to save Germany—and to save western civilization from the death march of oriental despotism westward into Europe, though he diplomatically does not say that—the United States will have to pay $475,000,000 for relief for German civilians in the next 18 months. That would be, of course, only the beginning. Germany will not be made safe from the threat of nihilism in 18 months.

The initial outlay, Mr. Hoover suggests, could be recaptured by a prior claim on German manufactures, if and when industrial production can be restored. But Americans now are too seasoned in the game of unsecured investment to have any illusions about getting their money back. The money would be gone forever—a few more billions added to the United States debt, most of which represents the attempt since 1914 to buy protection for the American way of life.

The United States helped to lick Germany. It was a great victory.

But you can't win a war in a world whose parts depend on one another.

Mr. Hoover explains this: "It may come as a great shock to American taxpayers that, having won the war over Germany, we are now faced for some years with large expenditures for relief for these people. Indeed it is something new in human history for the conqueror to undertake."

"Entirely aside from any humanitarian feelings for this mass of people, if we want peace; if we want to preserve the safety and health of our army of occupation; if we want to save the expense of even larger military forces to preserve order; if we want to reduce the size and expense of our army of occupation—I can see no other course but to meet the burdens I have outlined."

"Our determination is to establish such a regime in Germany as will forever prevent the rise of militarism and aggression within these people. But those who believe in vengeance and the punishment of a great mass of Germans not concerned in the Nazi conspiracy can now have no misgivings, for all of them—in food, warmth and shelter—have been sunk to the lowest level known in a hundred years of western history. If western civilization is to survive in Europe, it must also survive in Germany."

A STATIC condition of affairs generally is noted, with stubborn obstacles, delays and restrictions to be valiantly and patiently met, but with determination to forge ahead in the face of all sorts of blocking and congestion. With a shrewd analysis of the situation combined with a concentrated marshalling of all the forces and resources there is much promise for enduring if delayed success. The use of subtle, inspired or intriguing tactics, supported by personal charm or appeal, may "move mountains," summoning associates ready with substantial aid.

On the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may have the opportunity to turn adverse, congested and crystallized conditions into channels of definite progress, with sound and enduring success and real benefit. Shrewd and sagacious insight into opposing forces and factors, with grim determination and persistent efforts combine to batter down all obstacles and find firm foundations. Such attitude will gain support from those in power to render substantial assistance, being attracted and impressed by possibly the use of personal appeal, charm or magnetism. Employ this with finesse and discretion for lasting results.

A child born on this day has excellent qualities for meeting obstacles and defeat, including much personality and charm.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Diagnosing Shoulder Pains

By Herman N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

PAIN in the shoulder can be due to so many different causes, that the physician is faced with a real problem in detection when a patient complains of this symptom.

Certain discomforts may arise following strain, over-activity or repeated minor injuries. Then, too, infections in the teeth, tonsils, sinuses or elsewhere in the body, as well as such disorders as gout, may cause shoulder pain.

Due to Pressure

Aside from all this, the physician must consider the possibility of referred pain in the shoulder, that is, pain due to pressure elsewhere and particularly in the upper part of the spine.

Here there are crowded together so many nerves, muscles and bony structures that if any one of them gets the least bit out of alignment, undue pressure is exerted with painful results.

One of the conditions of the spine which may be responsible for pain in the shoulder is known as osteo-arthritis of the spine. In this condition there is an overgrowth of the bony tissues which may cause pressure on the nerves as they come from the spine.

In such instances there are stiffness and pain on movement of the neck, while the shoulder itself appears to be normal.

Of course, if an X-ray is taken of the shoulder and of the upper part of the spine, the abnormal condition in the spine will be revealed. The treatment consists of rest, support and in some cases what is known as traction, that is, stretching of the upper part of the spine. If these methods do not relieve the pain some type of operative treatment may be required.

Cause of Pain

According to Dr. Earl D. McBride of Oklahoma, one of the more common causes for pain in the shoulder and arms is what is known as herniated intervertebral disc. The disc refers to a piece of cartilage which is located between the small bones of the spine.

The symptoms consist of spasm of the neck muscles, together with pain in the shoulder. Coughing or sneezing may bring on an attack of the shoulder pain.

If the herniated disc is in a certain location, there may be numbness of the thumb and index finger. It is usually possible to make a definite diagnosis with an X-ray of the spine.

Rest in bed and traction as mentioned above may serve to bring relief. If it does not, surgical removal of the disc is necessary.

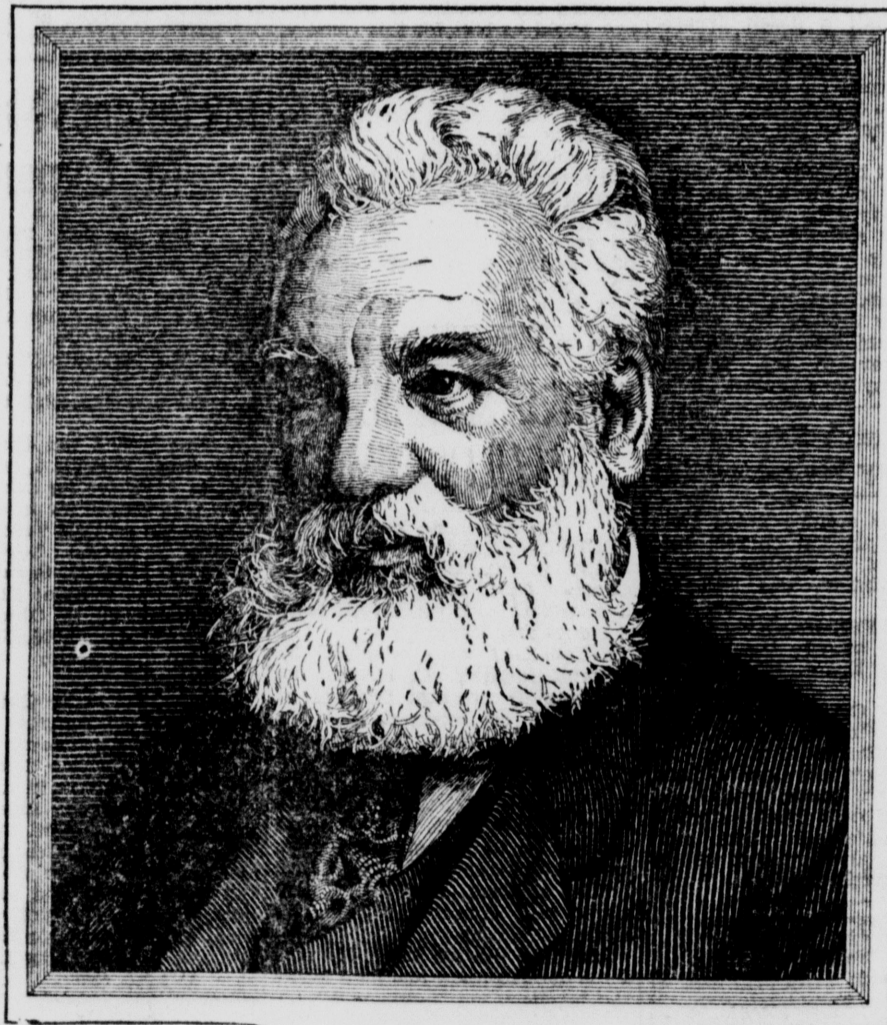

Of course, pain in the shoulder may also be due to inflammation of the joint itself, to bursitis which is the inflammation of a sac containing fluid located near the joint, as well as a number of other conditions.

Careful investigation by an orthopedic specialist is advisable when shoulder pains develop.

ALEXANDER GRAHAM BELL

March 3rd is the 100th anniversary of Alexander Graham Bell's birth. No man has done more to wipe out the barriers of distance in our daily lives. His invention, the telephone, has become an essential of modern living.

Bell gained the knowledge that led to his invention of the telephone through his efforts to teach the deaf to speak. This same spirit of service built the telephone industry and is still a proud tradition of our company and the Bell System.

The Granges

Reports of Meetings and Special Events of Interest to Farm Folk

Willow Grove

Price Cope gave an interesting talk at a meeting of Willow Grove grange Friday evening at the hall. Cope discussed the atomic bomb and stressed the thought that war is a waste of life and property.

Nature is the worst waster, in the opinion of the speaker, who cited as one example that a fruit tree always has many more blossoms than the quantity of fruit it bears. He told the grangers that if the waste in the wind and sun's rays could be turned into power, the farmer's work would be easy.

Every household has to have three things—a waste basket, a garbage can and a trash pile, he said.

Mrs. Alex Silver entertained with piano selections. A contest was conducted by Mrs. Harry Sherwood and Mrs. Byron Sanor gave household hints.

Miss Twila Bartsch contributed a reading, "Remember."

The grange will send two of its officers, Mrs. Russell Myers, lecturer, and Miss Bartsch, juvenile matron, to a "short course" at Ohio State university, March 17-21.

Perry

Clifford Varney of Lisbon will be guest speaker at a meeting of Perry grange Wednesday evening at the hall.

The Valley school PTA will present a play and give special music. Lunch will be served.

LATEST RAINY WEATHER WEAR IS SMART, FLATTERING

Left, rayon tackle twill coat, buckled belt and sleeves; rayon folding umbrella; rayon gabardine coat.

We'll probably be in shortly for some pretty rainy weather, but that doesn't mean one must stay at home. The new rainy weather wear is smart, flattering and decorative. The two raincoats shown above are Sherbrooke creations. The first one (left) is fashioned in classic style of rayon tackle twill and has a buckled belt and sleeves. The material is completely waterproofed. The other is of rayon gabardine and comes in warm, high colors and there is a hood to match. Details include buttons to the half-belt and a fly-front closing on the coat's skirt. Two good deep pockets and full sleeves ripped tightly at the wrists are other style points. The folding umbrella is back from the wars. It is easy to carry and easy to pack when folded. It is made of a rayon fabric that is weather resistant and sturdy, and can be obtained in plaids and stripes as well as plain colors. Designed by Columbia.

★ WE, THE WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT

"WHEN I GET A LETTER from somebody it makes me want to be with him," said a five-year-old after having had a letter written just to her read through for the second time.

Now there's as simple a definition of a good letter as you'll ever find. And yet how many grown-ups don't understand that that is what a personal letter is supposed to do, make the one who receives it wish that he could be with the person who wrote it?

And so they put the wrong part of themselves and of their doings into their letters.

They recount every illness that has occurred in the family since the last letter, instead of telling only the part that needs to be told.

They enumerate their troubles. They talk about their fears and worries. In short, they write the kind of letters that make those who receive them feel vaguely troubled and heavy-hearted.

PUT LETTER ASIDE

Not that anyone wants to receive letters of faked cheerfulness from a friend or relative. But it isn't fake cheerfulness to make a letter sound as happy as possible by a careful editing of what goes in it.

Next time you write a letter, put it aside for a few hours or a day. Then read it over and ask yourself this question: "Will this letter make the one to whom I am writing wish he could be with me?"

If the answer is "No," tear it up, and start over.

Social Situations

THE SITUATION: You receive as a gift from a friend a book which you have not had time to read when you write your note of thanks.

WRONG WAY: Thank the friend for the book and say you are sure you will enjoy it—and let it go at that.

RIGHT WAY: Write a second note after you have read the book—saying how much you enjoyed it—and why.

TOURNAMENT DEPARTMENT

Results At South
Canton Central 42 Lehigh 41
Canton Lincoln 49 Minerva 42
Hubbard 52 Youngstown East 51

PATRONS OF SOUTH FIELD HOUSE Saturday night were treated to a bargain bill, although from the surface the games didn't appear as top-notchers.

The first major upset of the tournament occurred when Del Halpin's Canton Central Catholic Crusaders pounced upon seeded Canton Lehigh, with a record identical to Salem's (16-1), and held gamely on to a lead to win 42-41 in an unbelievably thrilling contest.

In the other first round frays, Lincoln paid back Minerva 49-42 for a previous seasonal loss and the nip and tuck battle was not decided until midway in the fourth when the Lions drew away.

In the nightcap, a determined and rugged Hubbard outfit trailed the entire game, only to come to the front in the final minutes and edge Youngstown East 52-51 in a hair tinger.

LEHMAN HAS BAD TIME

Elimination of Lehigh, one of the tournament's "big wheels," was a sad affair. Coach Jimmy Robinson's outfit just didn't have a thing happen right all night long. All the breaks went the other way, but still little can be taken from the play of the stout-hearted Catholic school.

One of the most thrilling games seen at Youngstown affairs in years, the Lehigh-Central battle was somewhat of a "grudge" affair. Both teams were backed by excellent cheering sections, but Lehigh's unified voice was by far the most impressive ever seen at South.

Convinced that their lads would come through to victory, the Lehigh cheering section never gave up, even when only one second remained. There were fully 1,000 Lehigh students on hand Saturday and many left the field house with tears obvious, for the Polar Bears were expected to go a long way.

DEPARTMENT OF ENCOURAGEMENT

Although it's always somewhat hard on a top-notch tournament to see its best teams eliminated early, the Lehigh defeat lends encouragement to the Salem cause.

If Salem gets through the district finals the winner of the bracket in which Lehigh appeared will be the Quakers for, needless to say, any of the other teams, now narrowed to Lincoln, Central, Newton Falls, and Hubbard, would not be so worried in the finals as Lehigh would have been.

The crown-drawing aspects of the tournament are dampened also by the elimination of Lehigh. As was shown Saturday, when a good 1,500 fans seemed to be rooting for Lehigh's way, the top Canton schools are the big attraction so far. Of course Central will draw, but it's a much smaller and less known school.

DEPARTMENT OF CONJECTURE

Tonight's play gets down to the meat of what is currently the very top conversation in Salem—who are the Quakers going to meet Wednesday?

The Alliance-Brookfield contest will produce Salem's first foe and it would appear that Alliance is the logical winner. Only one thing qualifies that statement and that's the fact that the Aviators are definitely "pointing to Salem" and may overlook the consideration that they must whip Brookfield first. Both teams have like season's records (6-12) but Alliance's is against stiffer competition.

In the Youngstown North-Niles tilt at 8 tonight, Niles seems an easy winner.

Feller and Company

One of the first family pictures of the Bob Fellers comes from the Cleveland Indians' training grounds at Tucson, Ariz., showing the speedballer demonstrating what might be called a "sinker" to son Stephan, held by wife Virginia.

Quakers Make Final Preparation For Tourney

AWAIT RESULT OF TONIGHT'S PLAY AT SOUTH

Winner of Alliance Fray At 7 Will Meet Salem On Wednesday

With but one day of practice remaining before their initial tournament attempt at 8 p. m. Wednesday at Youngstown South field house, Salem's Quakers are anxiously awaiting the outcome of the Alliance-Brookfield game at 7 tonight.

The Quakers, favored to win in the lower bracket since Canton Lehigh was eliminated Saturday, will meet the winner of the Alliance-Brookfield game in the first try.

Coach Bob Miller had his charges at East Palestine Saturday morning for a scrimmage workout against a potent Sharon, Pa., club in preparation for the tournament.

Sharon and Salem battled on fairly even terms for an hour and a half, but Salem's showing was not up to par, according to the coach's report. Miller said several of his starters were not on form and failed to give the defensive game they are capable of.

Other games tonight at South also are directly important to Salem. The winner of the Warren-Youngstown frays will play against the winner of the Youngstown North frays will play to see who meets the winner of Salem's first try.

Consequently, Coach Miller and probably a host of Salem fans will be on hand to size up the possible future opposition.

If Salem wins Wednesday, it will play again at 9 Friday and then in the final game Saturday night.

The South tournament produces two winners, both of which go on to the four-team regional tournament at Kent on the following Thursday and Saturday night.

Miller plans a workout this afternoon at the local gym and a trip to a larger floor may be arranged for Tuesday afternoon. Salem worked out on the South floor once last week, once at Sebring and at Palestine Saturday.

Faculty Manager Fred Cope announced today that as yet he has not received tickets for an advance sale in Salem, but Tourney Manager Dave Williams said Saturday tickets would definitely be sent here before Wednesday.

Boudreau Likes Lack Of Holdouts This Year

TUCSON, Ariz., March 3.—Manager Lou Boudreau says the lack of holdouts will make this year's Cleveland Indians club the best conditioned of any he has piloted.

It wasn't only that the holdouts weren't in good shape when they opened the season but most of them reflected that attitude in their work," Boudreau said. "I'm happy to say that we will not have those problems this year."

Only two Tribesmen remain as holdouts, Catcher Tom Jordan and First Baseman Heinz Becker. Neither one affects the plans for 1947.

Potters, Martins Ferry In Tournament Clash

East Liverpool's Potters, defending their district Class A championship, Sunday drew Martins Ferry, the team that recently defeated them 45-35, as the first foe in the four-team district tourney at Steubenville.

The Potters will play Tuesday night and on Wednesday night Tiltonville will meet Toronto. The winners of the two games play the district finals Friday night to determine the regional contender at New Concord.

Columbiana Draws Bye, To Start District Play At Kent At 9:15 Friday Night

Columbiana's Clippers, now advanced to the district Class B tourney at Kent this week, Sunday afternoon drew into a bracket with powerful Akron Ellet, Cuyahoga Heights, undefeated Ridgeville and Deming High of New Lyme, and will begin play at 9:15 p. m. Friday.

The drawings were held at Kent Sunday with Manager Merle Wagener of Kent State in charge. Wagner announced that Stanley Ma-chock of Cleveland, Clyde Hall of Warren and Robert Oldfather of Orange would be officials for the affair.

The Clippers, considered one of the outstanding teams in the 17-team Kent district tourney, drew a bye the first round and will face the winner of the Deming-Ridgeville game, which is scheduled for 8:45 p. m. Wednesday at the Kent campus.

The possibility of Columbiana meeting powerful Akron Ellet is good, according to the ratings of the teams involved, but the game wouldn't come until the district finals at Kent Saturday night.

Three teams will qualify from Kent for the regional in Class B, which also will be held at Kent the following week, running Friday and Saturday.

Lewesville and Springfield township, both winners at the sectional tournament at Youngstown last week, were placed in opposite brackets.

Lewesville is in a bracket with East Canton, Akron Norton, Oberlin, Rittman and Jefferson. Springfield is in with North Canton, South Amherst, Doylestown and Brecksville.

The complete tournament schedule, with team records shown, follows:

TUESDAY
7:30—Doylestown (26-3) vs Brecksville (17-4).

8:45—Akron Norton (13-15) vs Oberlin (15-2).

WEDNESDAY
7:30—Rittman (13-8) vs Jefferson (19-4).

8:45—Ridgeville (17-0) vs Deming (20-5).

THURSDAY
6:45—Springfield (24-4) vs N. Canton (17-4).

8:00—S. Amherst (20-3) vs winner Doylestown-Brecksville.

FRIDAY

45,000 Ohio Men To Escape Draft

COLUMBUS, March 3 — More than 45,000 Ohio men would be released from the threat of induction into the armed services under Selective Service if congress follows the President's recommendation to let the draft law expire March 31.

State Selective Service headquarters disclosed today 12,939 men currently are classified 1-A of 1-A-P, subject to immediate draft—and 32,973 other Ohio men are unclassified. These men might be classified for immediate induction.

With a lack of specific presidential recommendation, it is probable, state Selective Service officials speculated, the state's 330 draft boards would be disbanded.

Ohio now has 229,914 persons serving the armed forces, including volunteers and officers. A total of 622,232 men and women have served and have received their discharges.

most careful consideration and consultation with the secretary of war and the secretary of the navy, and with the earnest desire of placing our Army and Navy on an entirely volunteer basis at the earliest possible moment, that I should not recommend an extension of the act at this time."

Mr. Truman went on to say that the Army estimates "that it can count with fair certainty on an average of 20,000 enlistments and re-enlistments a month, in the coming fiscal year."

Hope For Enlistments

If no more than this number is obtained, the Army will fall 120,000 short of its authorized strength by July 1, 1948, but Mr. Truman added:

"However, there is a reasonable expectation that better results may be obtained."

Losses from the Army will be about 30,000 a month through fiscal 1948, the President said, and the Army intends to cut its strength to 1,070,000 by June 30, 1947. Its present strength is about 1,200,000.

In effecting this reduction, it will shortly direct the discharge of all non-volunteers," the President announced.

The Navy also is cutting its strength, but estimates that to maintain itself at an average strength of 571,000 through fiscal 1948 it will require about 150,000 recruits.

Mr. Truman said nothing about keeping the thousands of local draft boards alive pending a possible request for Selective Service revival.

Presumably, this means the dismantling of 6,442 local draft boards which induced more than 10,000,000 young men into the service. At one time, draft calls exceeded 400,000 men a month.
